Dashboard protection; top triple clamp; handlebars.

Italian parts specialist Bonamici Racing has developed a line of accessories for the popular Honda CBR 1000 RR-R Fireblade - "designed for those who want to bring the unique sensations of the racing world to the road".

Each product is designed to offer superior performance, "maintaining a direct connection to Bonamici's roots in racing and transforming the riding experience into something extraordinary".

Engineered for "perfect ergonomics", Bonamici adjustable rearsets allow riders to "find the ideal position for optimal control, just like on the track".

The top triple clamp and brake levers - with remote adjuster - are "inspired by advanced racing technologies, offering precision and immediate response to improve riding sensitivity".

"Each accessory, from the dashboard protection to the oil tank with membrane, is made with high-quality materials and tested to withstand the most extreme stresses, ensuring safety and reliability, both on the road and on the track. The engine protection and tank cap are designed not only to protect vital parts of the bike, but also to perfectly integrate with the aggressive design of the CBR

1000 RR-R Fireblade."

Bonamici says that the design values of this newly developed, model-specific line of its racing accessories is not only focused on improving the aesthetics and performance of the bike - it also "creates a deep connection between rider and machine. Every component is designed to deliver the feel and sensitivity of racing, giving anyone the opportunity to experience a unique ride, with maximum control and responsiveness.

"Bonamici Racing accessories for the Honda CBR 1000 RR-R Fireblade turn every ride into a journey into the racing world - with perfect harmony between rider and bike".
